

Tim Atkin visits Odfjell and recognizes our wines with outstanding scores

During December Tim Atkin, important English wine critic, visited Odfjell Winery and tasted our wines, while talking about what really moves us at Odfjell. He was able to see more in depth the organic and biodynamic work in our vineyards, and taste the different lines and varieties and valleys, getting to know our focus on wines that are rescuing their origin, respecting what the land gives us, and creating a place of honor for it in our wines.

The following are the scores our wines received after his visit:
