

ODFJELL CABERNET SAUVIGNON HIGHLIGHTED IN DECANTER MAGAZINE

This October Decanter Magazine describes the new scene for Cabernet Sauvignon coming from Chile and Argentina, giving Odfjell from Cauquenes 94 points.

Cabernet Sauvignon has always been “the king of red grapes”, and has been Chile's stronghold for the last decades, especially in Maipo Valley. However, our example from Maule Valley highlights how we are part of the community rewriting a new chapter in the history of fine Chilean Cabernet Sauvignon.

Odfjell Cabernet Sauvignon comes from Tres Esquinas, our organic and biodynamic vineyard, located in Cauquenes, 400 kilometers south of Santiago.

Tres Esquinas has red clay-loam soils.

Tres Esquinas farm house, Cauquenes.

ODFJELL CABERNET SAUVIGNON 2015 Cauquenes, Maule

94 pts

“Cauquenes isn’t well known for its Cabernet Sauvignon, although this biodynamic wine from Odfjell could easily change that. Created by the French winemaker Arnaud Hereu, this Cabernet is made from vines grown in deep clay soils resulting in a complex fruitiness that has matured well, showing notes of plum, blackberry, licorice, and spice. Medium-bodied on the palate, the slightly rustic tannins lend character. Drink 2021-2026 Alc 15%”. By Alejandro Iglesias.