The Vintage

This Harvest was challenging because the central area was affected by El Niño, which brought heavy rains especially during April. However, Cauquenes was not affected by these conditions and the grapes were of very good quality, with low yields that favored good ripening and homogeneity in the bunches.

Tasting Notes

Intense ruby-red color with violet highlights. In nose, this wine displays a never-ending array of aromas recalling cherries, black fruits, and mushrooms, along with additional notes of apricots, white peaches, pears, and a hint of lychee. The ripe and elegant palate is juicy and round, with vanilla notes, ripe tannins, and a long finish.
